

A Happy Marriage Is No Accident

Secret to success in any endeavor is preparing and planning.

Many of us are willing to spend years in school receiving an education that will prepare us for success in our chosen career or profession.

If we are so careful about planning for career success, why aren't we just as careful about planning for success in marriage?

Finding a partner and having a happy marriage cannot be left to chance.

It is important to plan for the end before the beginning, to count the cost up front, and try to anticipate the pitfalls and difficulties that will occur along the way.

Single Adults

Attend this seminar to PLAN & PREPARE for a date worth keeping.

We encourage you to take a risk and invest in you... invest in your future.
